JAKE WILL FIGHT.

Sullivan's Cash with the "Clipper" Will Be Covered.

Capt. Cooke, of the "Police News," for Final Stakeholder.

There Is Now a Prospect That the "Big Ones" Will Meet-

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD,] Poston, Dec. 20.-There is now every indication that the two great heavy-weight fighters, John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain, will be matched to fight for the championship of the world and the largest stake that has ever been fought for. The backer of Kilrain was at first inclined not to cover John L. Sullivan's $5,000 forfeit at the Clipper office unless he got a receipt for his Clipper office unless he got a receipt for his money, but to-day he has changed his mind, and probably before twenty-four hours the big fellow's forfoit will be covered on behalf of Kilrain.

When the Cupper refused to give Kilrain's backer a receipt for $5,000$ he took away the money and sent a telegram to Capt. Cooke, of the Police News, asking if he gave receipts for money deposited with him for matches and if he would act as stakeholder for the Sullivan-Kilrain match.

Capt. Cooke sent the following reply to Mr. Fox:

"The custom of the Police News has been to give receipts, and if we have to deal with people not good sportsmen enough to lose without resorting to law we pay over the stakes on the referee's order, but require an indemnity bond from the wiener. We will held the stakes.

"Well Levery one who rang this bell the last two days has wanted her," she explained. "And she is not in now, you say?"

sorting to law we pay over the stukes on the referee's order, but require an indemnity bond from the wivner. We will hold the stakes.

Mr. Fox, on receiving the telegram from Capt. Cooke, telegraphed to kilrain, now exhibiting in Chicago, asking him what sort of a fight he wanted with Sullivan.

Kilrain sent word back to Mr. Fox, saying: "Any sort of a fight sullivan wants."

James Keenan, a personal friend of Mr. Fox and an admirer of Kilrain, went to New York Sunday night to see if he could not arrange matters so that a match would be made. He returned to Boston yesterday, and during an interview with Capt. Cooke and some friends of Kilrain he said:

Friew with Capt. Cooke and some Friends of Hrain he said;

"The backer of Kilrain proposes to make this atch with John L. Sullivan for the biggest m of money Sullivan named, viz., $10,000 a de. Now, what man in any business is going put up $10,000, and take chances of death, to sy nothing of other chances, and not have a grap of paper to show for his coin? There may a some such fools in the world, but I am not not five.

be some such fools in the world, but I am not one of them.

"If there are any such men and they want to give me their money and take nothing to show for it. I'll be glad of a million or two of just such stakes. I have held a good many thou and dollars, and I never had money given me without having to give something to show I got it."

Keenan and the other Kilrain supporters were satisfied in their minds that an outside ring contest between Kilrain and Sullivan would not result satisfactorily, and yesterday they telegraphed to Kilrain's backer as follows:

"If both parties mean fight we can engage a foreign-owned steam craft, go outside the three-mile limit, either from New York or Boston, post stakes and have receipts given without violating the law. Our private opinion is that the California Atialetic Club plan will save much trouble. If Jake consents, how can Sullivan refuse to go there and fight to a finish, Queenshery rules on.

e backer of Kurain wired sake asking him, that plan of his Boston friends suited him, is morning Capt. Cooke received the follow-telegram from Mr. Fox: "Jake Insists John L.'s deposit must be covered as it lies e New York Cupper office; will Police News a final stakeholder?"

is the New York Cupper office; will Police News ct as final stakeholder?"

In reply to this message, Capt. Cooke wired Ir. Fox as follows: "We are willing, and give secipt for stakes if articles pledge both men not bresort to law and abide by referee's decision, et cach party surrender his receipt to referee hen men enter ring, and let referee destroy secipts before giving decision."

It now looks as if the Kilrain party will cover unlivan's $5.000 forfeit, and when they meet of draw up articles they will name the Police verse as final stakeholder, and if the Sullivan arty consent to that agreement the entire

Ann O'Delia Diss Debar has concealed herself in the soup.

So has the General.

The girl was profuse in her apologies until the young man explained that he wanted to see the General.

"That's just as bad," she said.

"How so?" he asked.

"Well, you're just like the rest. Tell 'em she's out, they ask for the General; tell 'em he's out, they ask for Mr. Stewart. Now I tell you there is none of 'em here."

"What time did they go out this morning?" he asked, blandly.

"I didn't say they went out this morning. They went out last night. They haven't been here in two or three days."

"Have their trunks gone?"

"Yes."

At this moment a small, sharp-featured woman rushed up to the door saying:

"She is telling the truth. They are gone. We would not have such disreputable characters in the house. Close the door."

It was slammed to, leaving the reporter to argue with the door knob.

In pulling upon the thread, it snapped. The rough edges of the tin tag had resisted the removal. An emetic was administered with no effect towards starting the tag, which was firmly fastened.

In consultation it was decided to resort to enterotomy, as the sharp-pointed tag would incerate the boy's vitals and prove fatal. The operation was successfully performed last night and the tag removed.

THE DISS DEBARS BOUNCED. WITTE GETS

Appointed This Afternoon as an Extra Man.

Commissioner Smith Bends to Public Opinion.

So has Lawyer Marsh's nephew, Douglas Justice Done at Last to a Much Wronged Young Man.

> The Evening World" Has Not Urged This Good Cause in Vain.

Cause: "The Evening World" establishes the alibi of Frederick Witte, who was falsely accused and in danger of being railroaded

Effect: Witte is honorably discharged by Cause: Witte, having been dismissed from his position in the Public Works Department while under arrest on the false accusation, 'The Evening World" voices the public entiment, demanding his reinstatement. Effect: He is reappointed by Commissioner · Lowber Smith to-day. Fair Play still prevails on Maghattan Island. And another clear-cut achievement in the cause of justice goes down upon the record of "The Evening World."

The case of unfortunate Frederick Witte, who was thrown into jail on the accusation of a hysterical woman and who lost his position as fireman in the County Court-House through his imprisonment, although honorably discharged, has aroused almost universal public sentiment in his favor.

The man was mnocent of the slightest crime, as THE EVENING WORLD proved, and the public with one voice are beginning to call for all possible reparation in his case. Witte was appointed fireman some fifteen months ago, and has worked faithfully and hard. He has tried and would have succeeded in blotting out the unfortunate act of his life, had it not been for unfortunate act of his life, had it not been for this malicious arrest and persecution.

His reputation for the past two years has been excellent, and it would be a dangerous matter to go into Witte's neighborhood and call him a "crook." His neighbors are all aware of his earnest efforts to be honest, and they pity him at the present time.

The reason given for Witte's removal was that of absence from his duties as fireman. Such was the reason that Commissioner of Public Works D. Lowber
Smith offered yesterday to the representative of The Evening World.

This was no cause for his removal, as will be shown by the following letter:

New York, Dec. 19, 1888.

Witte was overloyed at his reinstatement.

"It is a full vindication," he said, "and clears up all doubts about my innocence."

MILLIONAIRES ON THE STAND

Brown's part of the City Court to-day. In his complaint Mr. Brand, who sang as a baritone in the opera company, charges Mr. Godwin with having misrepresented the Company's condition and having signed an annual report incorrectly stating that C. P. Huntingon, R. H. Hoadley, Henry Seligman and H. G.

Marquand were stockholders. Millionaire Collis P. Huntington, Henry Seligman, R. H. Hoadley and J. J. Goodwin were in turn called as witnesses, and testified that they never held any of the American Opera stock. Mr. Huntington said he had gone no further than to attend a meeting called by Mrs. Thurber, at which, among others, Millionaires Charles Crocker and Andrew Carnegie were present.

Diptheria Causes a Breach in a Home opathic Medicine Society. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

Springfield, Mass., Dec. 20,-There was breezy time in the Homposopathic Medical Society of Massachusetts, in this city, yesterday, Dr. J. H. Carmichael, of this city, read an essay on "Diphtheria," in which he said he had essay on "Diphtheria," in which he said he had not lost a case from the disease for twelve years. At the close Dr. A. M. Cushing, also of this city, said he had looked up the City Clerk's records and found that Dr. Carmichael had certified to a number of deaths from diphtheria the present year.

A lively discussion followed between the two men, in which the lie was passed, and Dr. Cushing left the room and has withdrawn from the Association.

Both men formerly resided in the Eastern part of the State.

TAMMANY'S CHIEFTAIN TO BE BROUGHT NEARER THE CITY HALL.

Fire Headquarters in Sixty-seventh Street Is Just a Little Too Far Away-Then Mr. Croker Deserves Something from Tammany Hall-The Appointment Goes Into Effect in May, Barring Accident.

With all the speculation that has been rife concerning the possible appointments of Mayor-elect Hugh J. Grant no mention has been made of the great Tammany chieftain, Richard Croker.

It seems to have been taken for granted that he is content to remain in the Board of Fire Commissioners, still maintaining his leadership of the Tammany Hall organiza-

Such appears not to be the desire of Mr Croker. He would be nearer the City Hall than Fire Headquarters in East Sixty-seventh street, and apparently he will be. Richard Croker may be the successor of William M. Ivins as Chamberlain of the City of New York. There will be a big change in the programme between now and May. While this is a position of great financial responsibility, the labor which attaches to it is not great, the Chamberlain's cherical assistants doing almost all of it.

The present Chamberlain has found much laborate that the present Chamberlain has found much leisure to study political economy and political trickery during his term of of-fice, and in the same position Mr. Croke expects to find a great deal of time to devote to the building up and strengthening of the Tammany Hall organization until its position shall be impregnable to the attacks of rival organizations.

In the salary and perquisites which attach to this office, and which amount to nearly $50,000 annually, Mr. Croker may find a sufficient reward for his services in behalf of Tanmany Hall which had so much to do with returning it to which had so much to do with returning it to power in the municipal government.

He would be close to the Mayor, a member of the Sinking Fund Commission, and practically a Cabinet councillor of the Executive.

There is no place in the gift of Mayor-elect Grant which would be more acceptable to Mr. Croker than that of Chamberlain, it is asserted, and one who is in a position to know says that the Tammany leader has positively been slated to succeed Mr. Ivins on May 1, 1889.

Meredith Gets Eight Years and Ten Months' Imprisonment.

Hermann Gets a Little Less and the Women Are Remanded.

Edward Meredith, who shot and nearly killed Phil Daly recently, in Ella Hammond's Fourth avenue flat, was arraigned for trial General Sessions, this morning.

Lawyer Purdy entered a plea of not guilty for him yesterday. He asked permission to withdraw it this morning. It was granted.

"I now offer a plea of assault in the first legree on behalf of my client," he said. It was accepted. Then Mr. Purdy asked that leniency be shown the prisoner, as he had pleaded guilty and thus saved the city the expense and time of a long trial, Assistant District-Attorney Fitzgerald hought that there was lenincy enough shown him in accepting his plea.

Judge Martine then said : "I can hardly imagine a case more serious than this, Two men and two women conspired to rob a man and perhaps to kill him. How nearly you succeeded every one knows. 'Still, I will show you a little leniency for pleading guilty. The sentence in your case is that you be committed to State prison for is that you be committed to State prison for eight years and ten months."

Meredith never moved a muscle nor changed color. He turned quickly around and walked back to the pen.

Henry Hermann, who also pleaded guilty, was next arraigned for sentence.

Judge Martine thought there were some mitigating circumstances in his case, because he had not originated the conventers and he

he had not originated the conspiracy and be-cause he had assisted the police in learning cause he had assisted the police in learning full details of the crime after his arrest.

Herrman paled and trembled, and walked slowly back to the prisoners' pen.

Another Remarkable Story from the Field of Remarkable Happenings. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD,]

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. Dec. 19.-Miss Jennie Allstone, who boards with Mrs. Rogers on Broad street, complained to Chief of Police Marsh a few days ago that she had been robbed of considerable jewelry.

Miss Allstone is an assistant at one of the fashionable millinery establishments on Main street, and is possessed of many personal charms, as well as a number of diamonds and various pieces of valuable jewelry. She told Chief Marsh that her jewelry had been taken from time to time in small lots from her dressing-case, and she suspected

About 3 this morning the sleeper sat up in bed. The eyes had a fixed, glassy stare. She muttered some mystic gibberish and slowly arose and walked with measured tread to her dressing case. All her jewelry had previously been taken. Nothing remained but an ivoryhandled button hook. This she seized, and with great ceremony proceeded to secret it within the centre of the hair mattress. She then made her bed and lay down to sleep the night out.

Cause of the Disbandment of the Honorable Artillery Company of London.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

Boston, Dec. 20.—A member of the Honourable Artillery Company of London, recently disbanded by the Prince of Wales, informs The Evening World correspondent that the trouble arises over distatisfaction with the Adjutant of the company, who is accused of neglect of duty and also of preventing the regiment from participating in manonives with other troops.

All but eleven of the company voted to reduce his salary as a mark of their displeasure.

The Prince of Wales regarded this as an act of insubordination, and demanded that £500 should annually be granted to the commanding officer.

At the annual meeting this grant was probably seemed and a country where they will suffer privation and bardable.

At the annual meeting this grant was probably refused, and so the Prince has taken the extreme measure of disbandment.

PALMER TO LEAVE AUBURN.

Friends of the Insane Murderer.

The case of William Lord Palmer, ir., who shot and killed Policeman Asa H. Furness in a room in the Metropolitan Hotel ten years ago, and who is now in the Auburn Criminal Insane Asylum, was before Judge Martine in the Court of General Sessions to-day.

Assistant District-Attorney Foster moved that the indictment against Palmer be dismissed, in order to enable the friends of Palmer to remove him to a private asylum.

Dr. Carlos F. McDonald, the physician him to a private acylum.

Dr. Carlos F. McDenald, the physician in charge of the Auburn Asylum, reported that Palmer has refused to eat for a year past, under the delusion that his food is potsoned, and for twenty-two months he has been fed by means of a stomach tube.

Judge Martine granted the application.

British and Egyptians Win a Fiercely Fought Battle.

Rebels Driven to the Bush From Their Suakim Intrenchments.

What Will the Mahdi Do with Emin and the "White Traveller ?"

before Judge Martine, in Part I., Court of Desperate Charge of the Black Brigade on the Trenches.

> ISPECTAL CARLE TO THE EVENING WORLD I LONDON, Dec. 20. - Advices from Suakin state that the British and Egyptian forces repulsed the rebels in a half-an-hour battle just after daylight yesterday.

> The Arabs were completely routed and driven to the bush. Their loss was not less than 400 killed, while the British lost but four men killed and thirty wounded. The charge on the rebel redoubts was led by the black and Egyptian regiments.

Gen. Grenfell's victory was well earned and brilliant. The behavior of the British troops under a fierce fire was admirable. The rebels fought desperately, but were slowly forced to retreat under the superior armament and discipline of the redcoats.

Ali the Arab cannon was captured by the Egyptians. The rebels retreated towards Hasheen and Tamar.

The British man-of-war Starling and an Egyptian vessel shelled the trenches and did splendid work. The charge of the Black Brigade, however, fighting and bravery elicited pronounced admiration. The English force numbered about four thousand men.
